WJH AO Enterprise Level

The WJH Accounting On-Line Enterprise level subscription offers a complete accounting solution with a low monthly cost, anytime/anywhere access through the Internet, easy growth, and iron-clad security. It is the ideal choice for small to medium sized companies that need the functionality and scalability of traditional enterprise class client/server accounting software without the complications or higher costs.

Intacct Enterprise gives you everything you expect from a true professional strength accounting solution. Your subscription includes general ledger, accounts payable, accounts receivable, cash management, order entry, purchase orders, inventory control, employee expenses. You also receive a rich array of additional features such as on-line delivery for invoices, statements and payments. Optional capabilities include professional time & billing, and payroll.

Low Entry Cost

You pay an affordable subscription fee. There are no software licenses to buy, no pricey hardware to purchase and configure, no complex internal IT networks to build and no expensive service contracts. And, you don't need IT staff to manage the system, because Intacct and their partner, IBM, take care of all system upgrades, maintenance, backup, storage, and security.

Anytime/Anywhere Access

Access the system any time from any Internet-capable computer—at your desk, at a conference room meeting, from an airport or hotel. Financial managers, accountants, and location managers can interact with accounting data on-line, simultaneously and in real-time, regardless of location. Central managers can define organization-wide automated workflows that knock the labor cost out of business processes such as expense reports. And, your financial advisors, such as the CPAs at WJH, can access, view, and analyze your data, answer your immediate questions, and give you expert, knowledgeable advice. Geographically dispersed business units, such as remote offices, manufacturing operations, sales offices, stores, or warehouses, are automatically connected. Retail and wholesale organizations benefit from seamless integration with the major point-of-sale systems.

A Secure Solution

A sophisticated, multi-level, highly granular permissions system gives you total control over the use of the applications and access to your financial data. Your users see and do only what you want.

The system, powered by Intacct and hosted in an IBM datacenter, incorporates the same mission-critical security and privacy protections as those employed in on-line banking—a level of security generally far beyond what most small to medium businesses can afford to implement on their own.

Your financial data is secure in the off-site data-center where it is automatically backed up on a daily basis.

Painless Installation and Growth

With this solution you and your staff do not need to deal with the issues associated with an in-house application and the associated computing infrastructure. Intacct does all the work for you by adding servers, storage, and networking at our centralized, IBM-hosted data center. All you ever need to do is add additional users or applications with a couple of mouse clicks.

And, if your business model changes, you add additional offices or facilities, or you acquire subsidiaries, we provide a simple growth path with the patent-pending MEGA solution that allows your headquarters to manage any number of business units that are organized in any ownership configuration.

Application Integration

We know it is likely that you either now have, or would like to deploy, internal or partner applications interconnected with your financial accounting system. The process of integrating legacy, third-party, and custom business applications with the core system is greatly simplified through the one of the industry's most sophisticated XML gateways.

A Smooth Transition

After initial sign-up, WJH's highly trained and experienced specialists will configure your system so it is compatible with the way your business functions today. We will setup users and permissions, upload your legacy data, and train your staff. And, anytime you have a question our staff as well as the Intacct customer support team is standing by to assist you.
